About Dynasty Gaming Inc.

Dynasty Gaming Inc. is solidifying a two-phased strategy to secure a lead position in the Chinese market and within the international online gaming sector with its first-to-market software for an aggregate player, cash wager version of Mahjong, the world's most played game. Through its wholly owned subsidiaries, the company develops, markets, licenses and supports the Mahjong Mania software. Since marketing began in the second half of 2005, a number of license agreements have been signed including a contract with Ladbrokes, the world's largest online sports book (www.Ladbrokes.com) whose site now hosts a customized version of Mahjong Mania. Dynasty has also signed Microgaming, an innovative supplier of online gaming solutions to many of the world's leading online casinos and sports book operators. On October 13, 2006, President Bush signed into law the Unlawful Internet Gambling Enforcement Act. In response, Dynasty Gaming decided that it would not accept wagers from the United States from its licensees. Given the Company's focus on the Asian markets, Dynasty Gaming expects that this decision will have a minimal impact on its future operations.

Dynasty Gaming's 77.6 million common shares, issued and outstanding, are widely held by Canadian and U.S. investors. Full information on Dynasty Gaming can be found at www.dynastygaming.com.
